

FINANCIAL MAFIA, HENRY CALLS THE BIG MONEY TRUST

Congressman Wants "Black Hand Methods" of Wall St. Combination Bared.

ASSASSINATES RIVALS.

People Should Know "Depth of Villainy" Before Aldrich Currency Plan Is Adopted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Congressman Henry of Texas, Chairman of the House Rules Committee, made a sensational speech in the House today in which he attacked the money-power in Wall street and demanded an inquiry into "the blackhand methods of the financial mafia in this country." He contended that a thorough investigation before Congress accepted the Aldrich plan of currency reform.

Chairman Henry was the author of a Money Trust investigation resolution, which was beaten in caucus by Democratic Leader Underwood and Speaker Clark. A substitute by Chairman Pujol of the House Banking and Currency Committee, which was opposed by the Democrats, Chairman Henry and William J. Bryan himself was agreed upon. Some portions of Mr. Henry's speech were spirited and bitter.

"It is not time," asked Mr. Henry, "to inquire into these blackhand methods of the financial mafia, which exist in this country?"

He attacked the alleged money monopoly in Wall street and assumed that "no effective investigation can be made into the ramifications of either currency legislation, the trusts and interstate commerce corporations until Congress understands the methods of the invidious and almost supreme money power."

"Shouldn't we know something of the depth of villainy to which this financial mafia will descend?" Mr. Henry continued, "before we rewrite our currency laws? Wouldn't it be better to probe deeply into that hidden and mysterious side before we swallow the Aldrich plan?"

"Let me warn the American people that we will be groping in the dark and will go down in their pitfalls unless we have a thorough Congressional investigation and unearth their system, their villainy, and the secret methods of their combined money monopoly. While we are grappling with this momentous problem, this money power is moving heaven and earth to circumvent us."

"More than 75 per cent. of our financial resources, industrial and railroad corporations, is now dominated and controlled by a mere handful of men, a group of financiers. This financial oligarchy has now within its grasp, resources, deposits and funds with which to destroy competitors. They now have at their feet in merciless subjection more than 75 per cent. of the vast army of laborers and bankers throughout the country. They are combined and acting in strict accord with the railroads and industrial trusts by throwing their protecting arms around them with the money power, thus insulating in business all competitors."

"It is certain that these same financial interests of New York have a close connection with the bankers of the money centers of Europe and act together in protecting one another and destroying competition."

NO TRACE OF THE SERVANTS WHO STOLE $15,000 IN GEMS

Butler and Cook Looted Home of A. D. Ellsworth in Dobbs Ferry.

Search of all outgoing steamships and other means of egress from New York was made today by detectives seeking to capture a butler and a cook who escaped from the home of A. D. Ellsworth in North Broadway, Dobbs Ferry, yesterday with $15,000 worth of jewelry.

The cook and butler, known as Louise and Carl Dietze, recently joined the household force at the Ellsworth mansion. They were pronounced "jewels" of servants by Mr. Ellsworth. They lived up to their title by helping themselves to the family jewels.

NEW CLOTHES, NO MONEY ON ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN

Young Man Arrested for Robbery of $340 From Payroll Clerk in Bronx.

James Barry, the young man who is alleged to have stolen $340 from William Doughtery, payroll clerk of the McGraw-Hill Building, was arrested today in a saloon at Fifty-seventh street and Tenth avenue. He had none of the money with him, but he was tossed out in a complete outfit of new clothes, from hat to patent leather shoes.

Barry is said to have taken the money from Doughtery after knocking him down in a vacant lot at One Hundred and Forty-ninth street and Trinity avenue. Doughtery was on his way to the marble company's office from the Bronx branch of the Corn Exchange Bank.

Doughtery said Barry devoted him to the lot by means of a letter he said the "boss" had given him.

Crabtree's Destination Secret. WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The destination of the armored cruiser West Virginia, which sailed from Honolulu yesterday, still is unknown under naval circles. The vessel was fully coaled and provisioned for a long trip. It was said her destination is neither China nor Mexico, however.

LATEST THINGS IN THE FASHIONS FOR THE WOMEN

Spring Styles Designed in New York Regardless of Paris.

EXHIBITED AT REVIEW.

Visions at Banquet of the Business Men's Society of Ladies' Tailors.

Marguerite Mooers Marshall. What do you think you're to wear this spring?

Really, you don't have to think, for it's all decided for you. And the result of the decision was announced last night at the Spring Fashion Review and Banquet of the Business Men's Society of Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers of New York. Now let's draw a long breath and begin again.

The "Review" was held in Taverner Hall, and, according to the reviewers, there was presented the one authorized edition of American styles for American women.

Every design exhibited was "made in New York," and now let Paris do her worst—the American has spoken.

In the first place, you shall have a few maxima of general application, and then I will describe in detail sundry ravishing costumes which will burst upon your delighted gaze within a very few weeks.

NARROW SKIRT WILL BE IN VOGUE IN AMERICA.

The exceedingly narrow skirt will persist. "The American woman," said one of the mouliders of her destiny last night, "likes a straight hanging skirt which does not draw in around the bottom, but which shows no extra fullness." Therefore the circumference of the spring skirt will be from a yard and three-quarters to two yards and a quarter. The empire finish at the belt line will prevail, and the popular length will be three inches from the ground.

The striking feature of the new coat will be the bell sleeve, close-fitting at the arm pit, but with the lower edge fourteen inches in circumference and seven or eight inches wide. The kimono sleeve will be used to some extent, but its popularity is waning. "Most" of the sleeves will be three-quarter length, but elbow sleeves are to be worn.

COATS WILL MEASURE 24 TO 28 INCHES IN LENGTH.

Coats will not be more than twenty-eight inches in length, and many will be only twenty-four or twenty-six inches. All the effects will be very soft, with absolutely no stiffening used between the material and the lining. In cut and in trimming the short-skirted effect will be manifest. Some sailor collars will be worn, but the popular collar has broad revers in front, often made of embroidery. The collars, including the revers, are nearly all of light material, contrasting with the dark suits, or else are overlaid with lace collars. This is to give a light effect, suitable for warm weather.

Many of the coats are seamless, or with only one seam. They tend to blouse in front, but fit smooth or are belted in the back. A good deal of trimming will be used, including velvet or embroidered collars and cuffs, embroidered buttons, cords of the same material as the suits, and buckles. Many coats fasten diagonally across the front with large buttons.

One new skirt which deserves a paragraph to itself is the double formation. This is really a one-sided overskirt. On one side the effect is perfectly plain, but the other laps over with attached plaits, and perhaps an eight-inch slit at the bottom. In the part of the skirt under the fold, the skirt must be made of a single piece. This skirt fastens on the side, and a few tricks is to obtain the very slight fullness by shirring at one side of the waist.

NEWEST MATERIALS AND THE MOST POPULAR ONES.

The newest materials, of course, the Turkish towelling, or English raton, to give it its proper name. Other popular materials will include the perennial light-weight serges, poplins, changeable silks, and pongees. The black and white marmale shades, much worn during the last two seasons, are in less favor this year. Mahogany, cinnamon, navy blue and white are the favored tints. White serges, relieved with blue velvet, is expected to be especially well liked.

Now for the visions. One of the first I saw was a blue serge suit, the coat cut all in one piece. The rows of double braiding across the back gave the desired short-waisted effect. There was a very elaborate collar of white serge, with a little lace collar over it, and having extremely wide revers with a row of black and white-green in the facings. The coat fastened diagonally, and the buttons were matched by those running down the side of the skirt.

A Turkish towelling suit was chiefly notable for the softness of its lines, following the natural consistency of the fabric. The skirt was of the half-yard wide, and opened at the side, the most of the skirt's season. The short-waisted effect was obtained for the coat by a row of closed buttonholes running up each side of the back, imitating cross-stitch and set with ball buttons.

WAYS FOR MAKING COATS LOOK SHORT-WAISTED.

There is no end to the ways of making the coats look short-waisted. A charming suit of French pink pongee had sixteen tucks running in four rows across the back of the coat, raising the natural waistline several inches. This was an admission by the prisoner on every point legally constituting such an indictment.

But the record shows that Judge Rusk did not sentence Brandt on the basis of his confession, but on the basis of the evidence. The language is not claimed to be just what Judge Rusk said, but it brings out the legal point.

Brandt's confession was that he walked into the Schiff house, not that he broke in, and fourthly, entry is necessary to establish first degree burglary.

consequently, lawyers claim, Brandt was sentenced on a confession that did not establish first degree burglary and was not sentenced on a plea of guilty to all the essential elements of first degree burglary. It is predicted that Judge Gerard will take this view.

The report that Charles F. Murphy advised Gov. Dix to refuse to pardon Brandt and would be called before the Grand Jury has been effectively contradicted by District Attorney Whitman. Mr. Murphy and Gov. Dix, the District Attorney says he cannot imagine how anybody conceived such a baseless Arnold C. Well, Assistant Corporation Counsel, since the Brandt scandal became public with its rumors of unusual price on the part of certain lawyers, has asked that the Grievance Committee investigate. The attitude of the committee, as reflected by Chryslie, has been one that could not be called precisely friendly to the project fathered by Mr. Well. Today Mr. Well said:

"The whole matter is one which calls for investigation. I shall be surprised if no special meeting of the Bar Association is called for the purpose of making an investigation. If not, it is certain to be taken up at the next regular meeting."

In such an investigation all the papers in the case will be laid before the investigating committee, which of course cannot get down to action until the several pending inquiries end.

VOYAGE HELPS MORSE.

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP KAISERIN AUGUSTE VICTORIA, VIA HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 17.—Charles W. Morse, the New York banker paroled by President Taft from the Atlanta penitentiary, is steadily improving in health during the voyage toward Europe.

His condition was so much better yesterday that he ate three meals, two of which consisted of several courses each. Although not out of his cabin during the day, he sat in his chair for many hours. Mr. Morse has not yet ventured on deck, but is expected to do so if his strength increases. The passage so far has not been disagreeable, and this has greatly aided in the improvement of the banker.

$10,000,000 RAISE ENGINEERS DEMAND WILL BE ADJUSTED

Possibility of Strike on 48 Eastern Railroads Too Remote for Consideration Now.

The possibility of a strike resulting from the demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on forty-eight Eastern railroads is so remote as to be beyond serious consideration at this time, according to A. W. Sullivan, secretary of the executive conference committee named by the Eastern roads to act in adjusting the demands of the engineers.

"We are not lined up for battle," said Mr. Sullivan to an Evening World reporter today, "and we are not preparing for a long siege. Statements to that effect were made at this time."

"The roads affected by the engineers' demands cover the territory East of Chicago and north of the Norfolk and Western in Virginia. Included in the list are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, New Haven, Lackawanna, Erie, Delaware and Hudson, Baltimore and Ohio, Jersey Central, Lehigh Valley, Lake Shore, Western Maryland and Wheeling and Lake Erie.

"The demands made by the engineers were formulated in Buffalo in January and are:

"Pay for running passenger engines having cylinders of twenty inches or under, $4.40 per 100 miles or less, $4.60 for engines having larger cylinders. Overtime to be computed on a basis of twenty miles per hour at 70 cents an hour. Electric engines to be operated by members of the Brotherhood at steam service rates.

"On freight engines $5.35 per 100 miles on engines with 26-inch cylinders, $5.50 for engines with cylinders from 26 to 31 inches, $5.75 for engines with cylinders exceeding 31 inches except the Mallet type locomotive, which is rated at $7. Overtime to be computed on the minute basis at the rate of 10 miles an hour.

"Rates for operating switch engines in yards are put at $5.50 a day, 10 hours a day's work. Shift time rates are placed at $5 for a day of 10 hours.

"Engineers who are required to report for duty 30 minutes ahead of time for taking their engines out are to receive a half-hour's additional pay.

"In all classes of road service in which there are delays within the terminal amounting to one hour, pay is demanded for one hour overtime. One hour and thirty minutes is to count as two hours, and settlement for overtime is to be made at the end of each trip.

"Owing to the lack of uniformity, some roads paying on the day basis and some on the mileage basis, accurate figures are unavailable. Although some estimates have placed the total increase of wages under the demands at $10,000,000 annually.

"The demands, if granted, would mean an increase of from 15 to 20 per cent. in the wages of the engineers.

"We believe the conferences will open between the railroads and the engineers in the near future, and that a period of several weeks. There is no inflated feeling or disaffection on the part of the engineers, and I believe the probability of the parties to the conference settling it into a strike is so remote as to be absolutely out of the question at this time."

U.S. TROOPS GUARD MEXICAN CONSUL, MENACED BY MOB

Madero's Envoy Angers Countymen by Freeing Americans Who Crossed Line.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 17.—United States troops are guarding the Mexican Consulate here today as the result of the demonstrations by Mexicans made against Mexican Consul E. C. Lorente. The local Mexicans are incensed because Lorente insisted upon the release of the nineteen United States soldiers who had been taken to the border by the error of Lieut. Ben. Feld, who is now under arrest by order of the War Department.

Leon Martinez, a Mexican, is under arrest charged with instigating riots among local Mexicans. He and his wife are said to have led a mob against the Western Union Telegraph Company building and the Mexican consulate.

The latest reports from Torreon say the city is completely surrounded by rebels and may be attacked by tonight. There still remain 300 Americans in Torreon, who have not been able to get out.

ECZEMA TERRIBLE HIS FACE A SIGHT

Brown Crust 1/2 Inch Thick. People Would Stare at Him. Itched and Caused Greatest Agony. Could Hardly Endure It. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Cured.

847 Columbus Ave., New York, N. Y. — "My left thigh was suddenly affected by eczema, also my chin and face. After one or two days it would become a dark brown crust or scab sometimes about one-eighth of an inch thick. It was terrible, as my face was so red and itched so much. People would stare at me and my boy friends would never let up on teasing me about it. The itching was greatest when it started to come on. I would not be able to let it alone and as soon as I scratched my face it would start in to water, a yellowish fluid and from then on it got better for a while. It would cause the greatest agony. I could hardly endure it. "I was given powder, which seemed to drive the eczema on to my face more than ever. Then I took blood medicine, but it had no effect either. I had the eczema for five or seven years on and off. Then I began to use the Cuticura Remedies. It began to disappear and I kept using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment until it was cured." (Signed) M. Uimer, Nov. 16, 1911.

LATEST VICTIM OF ROBBERS TELLS STORY.

The diamond merchant, who is fifty-two years old and lives at No. 213 Third street, Union Hill, N. Y., today told his own story of the attack.

"I had been in the city yesterday only because I had important business engagements. After I left my office in John street late in the afternoon I went by the subway to see E. M. Levy, an optician at No. 21 East Twenty-second street, to show him some unmounted stones. No doubt, I was followed from the moment I left the place. As Mr. Levy's shop front is of glass and the street is visible from the street, the fact that I had a wallet full of diamonds would be known to any one who had traced me to the place with evil intent."

"When Mr. Levy's I went on a Broadway car to the Marbridge Building, at Sixth avenue and Thirty-fourth street to keep an engagement with John Dumarest, of the Sage Foundation. I had a number of mounted diamond rings to show him. He was not in his office, and as I did not feel well enough to wait in the waiting room I left the rings with his secretary, whom I know well, and told her I would wait around for a while and return."

"I strolled slowly through Thirty-fourth street, up Fifth avenue and then back through Thirty-fifth street. When I was within two hundred feet of Sixth avenue I was conscious of the fact that an automobile had driven up behind me and two young men sprang out of it toward me. I could not say whether it was a taxicab or a limousine, but the body was very dark."

ASSAILANTS WHIRLING AWAY BEFORE VICTIM FELL.

"I had no pretensions of danger. I felt blow on the back of my head. Instinctively I threw up my left hand to ward off another blow, and my hand was struck down. Then came a third blow, which landed on my head and knocked me reeling. I knew I tried to draw my revolver, together with the danger, but the coat was ripped open and one of the men reached into my inside pocket for my wallet and tore wallet and pocket out with one jerk."

"What seems strange to me is that I could see people walking unconcernedly through Sixth avenue, as though nothing was happening. I do not know whether I made an outcry. I was stunned and confused by the first blow and almost before I could realize what was happening I was being robbed and the thieves were hurrying away."

GIRL DISAPPEARS AFTER A DANCE.

Mother of Mary Reilly Hears She Is Being Detained at a Clubhouse.

The peculiar disappearance of Mary Reilly, nineteen years old, a maid at the Waldorf-Astoria, was reported today to the police of the West Forty-seventh street station by her mother, Mrs. Mary Reilly of No. 36 West Forty-fifth street. The mother said the girl went to a dance in Brooklyn last Monday night and failed to return, although she had been escorted to the subway on the Brooklyn side by friends Mrs. Reilly said she had searched the city hospitals and had visited the morgue.

She said her husband was dying and her other daughter, Anna, was a cripple. They had to depend on the missing girl's efforts for the support of the family.

The mother was in Brooklyn this morning and said she heard, in a roundabout way, that her daughter Mary was being held against her will in a clubhouse in Fifteenth street by one of the persons who had aided in giving the ball of last Monday night. She said she had gone to a police station, but without result.

She described her daughter Mary as usually tall, and said the girl wore a blue skirt, a dark velvet waist, a blue hat and black shoes and stockings when she left home.
